British Fleet Drawn Up
Off Kronstadt After
Naval Battle

(Reuter's Service)

Archangel, August 20.—Another pitiful appeal has been issued by the representatives of the entire population in Northern Russia to the Allied democracies not to leave them at the mercy of the Bolsheviks. It reads:

"When your troops came with words of encouragement we believed you. We believed the work begun would be carried on. You were our moral support—but we were mistaken. You are recalling your men, half of whom are volunteers who come to our assistance in the name of humanity. And to think that your volunteers could save us from massacre, starvation and ruin. We representatives of democracy appeal to you to think what your action entails. We appeal to your feelings of human justice. The victory of Bolshevism means death to us. For the sake of the sanctity of human life you must leave your forces here so that in the last hour of our trial you may, in humanity, save those of us still alive. We ask you to hear this cry of despair and pain."

Equality For Korean People And Reforms Promised In Imperial Japanese Rescript

Purpose Stated Is Ultimate Adoption Of System Of Provincial And City Government Like That Now In Operation In Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Shanghai, August 22.—The Imperial Rescript and Premier Hara's statement concerning Korea were issued in Tokyo on the 19th. Reuter's agency are enabled to publish the following translation through the courtesy of the Japanese Consul-General:

Imperial Rescript

We have ever made it our aim to promote the security and welfare of our territory of Korea and to extend to the native population of that territory, as our beloved subjects, a fair and impartial treatment in all respects to the end that they may without restriction of persons lead their lives in peace and in contentment. We are persuaded that the stage of development at which the general situation has now arrived calls for certain reforms in the administrative organization of the Government-General of Korea and we issue our Imperial command that such reforms be put into operation. The measures thus taken are solely designed to facilitate the working of the administration and to secure good and enlightened government in pursuance of settled policy and in fulfillment of the altered requirements of the country. Especially in view of the termination of the war in Europe and of the rapid changes in the conditions of the world, we consider it highly desirable that every effort should be made for the advancement of the national resources and the well-being of the people.

We call upon all the public functionaries concerned to exercise their endeavors in obedience to our wishes in order that a rule may be assured in Korea and that the people, diligent and happy in attention to their respective vocations, may enjoy the blessings of peace and contribute to the growing prosperity of the country.

Premier Hara's Statement

Nearly ten years have elapsed since Korea was incorporated into the empire of Japan and, in view of significant changes which have meanwhile presented themselves in the conditions of the country, a plan of various reforms in the Korean administrative system has for some time been engaging my attention.

Unfortunately in March last disturbances broke out in several parts of the peninsula which, for obvious reasons, have retarded the production of the contemplated reforms. It will not be necessary at this moment to give a full account of those disturbances. It is much to be regretted that, as is generally the case under like circumstances, they gave birth to baseless reports, some of which even went so far as to make new stories out of old incidents, incidents antedating the annexation. Being determined to be perfectly just and fair in the conduct of affairs connected with the recent uprisings, the government will admit no excuse for any culprit whether he be a government official or a private citizen. Take the Suikun occurrence for instance. There the government has caused the responsible officers, who had already been subjected to administrative censure, to be brought for trial before a court-martial.

In proceeding to the reorganization of the system of the Government-General of Korea, I regret to announce the resignation of Marshal Hasegawa, Governor General, and Mr. Yamagata, Director General of Administration, both of whom have rendered eminent service to the State at the important posts which they have occupied for several years. To all the vacancie caused by their retirement Baron Saito and Mr. Midzuno have now been appointed.

MONDAY FIXED AS DAY FOR PAYMENT OF RATES

Chinese Agree To Pay Taxes;
Street Union Distributes Circulars Urging Action

All Chinese ratepayers are expected to pay their taxes on Monday and the little opposition that was evident yesterday was modified by promises to pay on that day. The decision is the result of a circular distributed yesterday and signed by the Merchants' Street Union.

The circular was prompted by a conference between representatives of the British Consulate-General and Chinese Chamber of Commerce following a previous meeting of a British Consular official and a Municipal Council member with Mr. Yang Tsching, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs.

The following is a translation of the handbills distributed by the Merchants' Street Union of Shanghai, urging the payment of the Municipal taxes in accordance with the increased rate, beginning next Monday:

"With reference to the increased taxation of the Municipal Council, the Chinese merchants in the different streets had decided to postpone the payment on account of the fact that Chinese ratepayers are not given a chance to be heard on Municipal matters. Consequently, representatives were elected to request the Bureau of Foreign Affairs together with the Chinese Chamber of Commerce to negotiate with the Municipal authorities to give franchises to the Chinese and then exact the payment."

"However, the change of the by-laws of the International Settlement is a very complicated matter and cannot be accomplished within a limited time. If we strongly maintain that the two issues should be solved at the same time, then the financial machinery of the Settlement administration will be retarded."

"During the last week, Messrs. S. Fessenden and R. F. C. Master, attorneys, repeatedly advised the representatives of the Chamber and the Union on the point. The British Consul-General and the Acting Chairman of the Municipal Council also declared to the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs that they endorsed Chinese representation in the Municipal administration, reports of which declaration have already appeared in the local press."

"On the 26th inst, a delegation of the representatives of the Union together with Mr. Chu Pao-san, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce and Messrs. Chu Lan-fang, Shen Tung-ho, Sung Han-chang and C. C. Nieh, directors of the Chamber, and its English Secretary, Chang Nieh-yuan, called on the British Consul-General. The latter enthusiastically expressed his approval of our requests and proposed the organization of a Chinese advisory department as a transitory body toward the final participation by Chinese in Municipal administration."

"Therefore, the delegation agreed to urge the commercial interests in the different streets to pay the rate for the present and quietly await for the organization of the advisory department and ultimate solution of the Chinese franchise."

"Beside reporting to you the past events of the negotiations, we ask that starting from next Monday, the first of the intercalary seventh moon, the rates be paid accordingly in order to cement the friendly feeling between the foreign and Chinese populace and to attain a sound solution for the question of local franchise."

ANSWERS QUERIES

Asserts Japan. Could Not

Of Shantung

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 19.—President Wilson, opening the conference of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at the White House said he did not object to interpretations of how the United States accepts the League of Nations provided these did not constitute part of the formal ratification. If the interpretations were part of the formal ratification it would mean a long delay as the other governments would have to accept the language of the Senate as the language of the Treaty. Most of the interpretations seemed to him to suggest the plain meaning of the instrument itself.

Impressed By Smuts

President Wilson declared that he rewrote his draft of the League of Nations in the light of a paper by General Smuts, who "seemed to have done some very clear thinking, particularly with regard to what was to be done to the pieces of the dismembered Empire." Replying to a number of questions President Wilson said that, in the event of the League considering the application of force against some Power necessary, the United States was not under a legal obligation to participate but was under a compelling moral obligation.

Would Check Japan

The League would prevent Japan assuming any complete sovereignty over Shantung. Asked whether he thought Japan could be depended on to carry out her promise in good faith, the President replied that he had every confidence she would.

CHIN WOO ASSOCIATION PLANS PUBLIC GARDEN

Body To Spend $30,000 Received
From Anonymous Person
For City

A free public garden to be financed and maintained purely by Chinese will be established next to the Chin Woo Athletic Association, on Baikal Road in Yangtseepoo, under the auspices of the association, according to announcement made yesterday by Mr. S. S. Chow, secretary of the organization. The garden will be open to foreigners.

Early this month an anonymous letter was received by the association enclosing a check for $30,000 payable to the organization and drawn on a certain Chinese bank. The letter stated that the sum was voluntarily subscribed in view of the good work of the organization and could be used by the body for whatever purpose it sees fit.

Several meetings were held and the board of directors, of which Mr. C. C. Nieh is chairman, decided to use the fund for the benefit of the public. A 20-mow lot adjoining the association was at once acquired.

Before public announcement of the donation was made, Mr. Wang Chi-chao pledged to construct a public library on the premises and donate his $20,000 library of ancient Chinese books. The library will also contain foreign books for the benefit of the foreign reading public. The garden will also have a music hall in which the association orchestra will play. An old Chinese monastery bell, to be contributed by the Walking Club of the association, will be another feature of the garden. The bell will be purchased by the savings of members obtained by refraining from taking carriages, trams and rickshaws.

Mr. Chow further announced that the general plan of the garden will be in purely Chinese architecture. While numerous gifts of trees and memorials are expected from Chinese no municipal or foreign contributions will be solicited or accepted, according to the decision of the directors.

The Chin Woo Athletic Association was established over ten years ago and was founded by the well known Chinese athlete, the late Mr. Pock Yuen-kah. It is a self-supporting institution and has a membership of over 700. Its members vary in occupation from wealthy manufacturers to mill hands.

The organization maintains branches in Hankow and Canton and local branches in the city, at the West Gate and in Frenchtown. Plans for the expansion of the activities of the association are also under way.

SPEAKS ON FRIENDSHIP OF CHINA AND AMERICA

Cotton Mill Owner Makes Interesting Talk At Dinner
To Mr. V. Meyer

America's opportunities in the unexploited fields of China and the cementing of Sino-American friendship by the returned students and the American merchants in China formed the subject of an interesting speech given by Mr. H. Y. Moh, general manager of the Hou Sun and Teh Dah Cotton Mills at a dinner given last night at the Y. P. Ping Shan Hotel in honor of Mr. V. Meyer, general manager of Andersen, Meyer and Co. Mr. Meyer is leaving for the United States on furlough.

Mr. Moh traced the progress of China during the last ten years and the active part taken by returned students from American universities in the various lines of industry and commerce. He spoke of the increasing number of Chinese students in American universities on account of the return of part of the boxer indemnity and because of the influence on the Chinese mind of America's action. He also asked for American co-operation when China looks for advice and assistance from her sister Republic across the Pacific, and expressed appreciation of the Chinese for the efforts of President Wilson and the American Senate in China's aid.

Mr. Meyer made an appropriate response. Mr. Hugo Reiss, Consul-General for Brazil, who will be acting general manager for the firm during the absence of Mr. Meyer, also spoke. Over 80 prominent Americans and Chinese attended.

KIRIN CIVIL GOVERNOR IN DIFFICULT POSITION

Reported Government Intends

Newly Chosen Officials

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, August 19.—It is confidently asserted semi-officially that the Government will not accept the resignation of Mr. Kuo Tsung-hsi, Civil Governor of Kirin, which appears to the foreign mind as adding insult to injury, for having allowed the pro-Japanese interests to strip him of the Director-Generalship of the Chinese Eastern Railway, where he had performed such faithful service for his country, and to expect him to remain among the band of officials who now carry out the orders of General Chang Tso-lin in the Kirin Province is to believe that he will expose himself to dire misfortune.

LUDENDORFF'S MEMOIRS REVIEW EVENTS OF WAR

Complains Suffrage Decree Of 1917 Revealed German Fears
Of Revolution

(Reuter's Service)
Berlin, August 19.—Interesting extracts are published of General von Ludendorff's memoirs which were written after the armistice. He complains that the Suffrage Decree in July 1917, "revealed our weak points to the enemy, showing our fears of revolution."

After the Reichstag peace resolution in 1917 both he and Marshal von Hindenburg tendered their resignations, which were withdrawn upon Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg retiring. He refers to Baron Kuehlmann as a post-Bismarck type of diplomatist whose name will ever be associated with "The Bolsheviks entry into Berlin and permitting Bolshevik propaganda from the Russian Embassy."

Dealing with the critical days towards the end of 1918, General von Ludendorff says that even after President Wilson's second Note he urged a fresh national effort. Indeed Marshal von Hindenburg issued an army order sharply condemning President Wilson. This order, says Ludendorff, "brought about my fall." The Kaiser declared against the order, so von Ludendorff, feeling he had lost his master's confidence, resigned. The Kaiser, accepting his resignation, said, "Your departure makes it possible for me to create a new state with the help of the Social Democrats." Von Ludendorff then went to see von Hindenburg and said, "In a fortnight we shall no longer have a Kaiser."

Perhaps the least known fact the memoirs disclose is that the Germans nearly lost the battle of Tannenberg, which was only won by von Ludendorff drawing off all the German troops facing General Rennenkamp's army and concentrating them against General Samsonoff's Narva army. "The battle

Friction Develops In South But Peace Outlook Is Bright

Three Parties Of Canton Government Jockeying For Position In Negotiations Soon To Open

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, August 19.—The situation in the South is extremely critical at the present moment, and the element of discord is increasing daily, despite the fact that Lu Yung-ting has taken it upon himself to enter into personal negotiations with certain of the Northern leaders with the object of bringing about a settlement. Although practically the whole of the South is extremely desirous that a settlement be reached and the country brought into a state of unity, there is considerable friction and jealousy within the Southern ranks.

At the present moment there are three main parties, each one of which is trying to block the efforts of the others to gain influence and position. Apparently the most powerful of the three is the Kwangsi unit under General Lu Yung-ting, who now dominates and controls Kwangsi and Kwangtung. The next party in influence is the Chenghsuehul Society under Tsen Chun-huan. This party has gained, and is steadily gaining, considerable influence in the Southern Military Government. The third party is the Kuomintang Party, which uses the old parliament as its weapon in the struggle.

There is no doubt that General Lu Yung-ting, with the military support that he has behind him, holds the strongest and most commanding position. Tsen Chun-huan's party has also a fairly strong position, having the Yunnan troops behind it, numbering about 20,000 men, to whom may be added the entire navy. It is stated that on the surface Mr. Tsen and General Lu are on the best of terms, but, according to an informant who has lately arrived from the South, they are secretly opposing each other.

The policy of General Lu Yung-ting and his supporters is to come to an understanding with the Government first, so as to strengthen their position. Mr. Tsen Chun-huan, however, is quite aware of this maneuver. He has sent his special representative, Li Yi-hai, to Peking, and it is stated that he is making secret arrangements with the President and certain of the Northern generals to secure practically the same support as General Lu. It is stated that the latter party is in favor of the re-convening of the Constitution Drafting Conference of the 6th Year (not the defunct parliament entirely) for the drafting of the new constitution. The Kwangsi party, however, is entirely disregarding the constitutional questions and devoting more attention to securing special advantages for itself and to the settling of "practical disputes." It is believed that General Lu with the object of breaking down this discord and further establishing his own position has decided to use his military power to dissolve the Military Government and the Extraordinary Parliament. According to a telegram received here, Li Kun-ran of the Chenghsuehul, is taking steps to guard against the plots of the Southern militarists by stationing large forces of Yunnan troops around Peiyushan and Kuanyinshan and occupying their defenses. He is thus prepared for any military emergency. By occupying Peiyushan he has secured the most important strategic position guarding Canton.

Yesterday the Anfu Club gave a farewell banquet to its leader, Wang Yi-tang and the other Northern delegates, during which Mr. Wang made a long speech, placing special emphasis on the parliamentary dispute. He assures his followers that he will endeavor to protect the New Parliament and, even if forced by circumstances to make concessions, he will use other means to protect the members of the new parliament and make every effort to maintain the equilibrium between the North and the South.

Earlier in the day Mr. Wang had an interview with the Acting Premier in which it was decided to reject the resignations of the four Northern delegates. The President is also said to be opposed to accepting these resignations. Telegrams have been despatched to the four delegates urging them to remain in their positions, and also, to prominent and influential officials requesting them to use their good offices in this direction.

Mr. Wang is in favor of modifying the regulations governing the conference. He advocates allowing any one of the delegates on either side to address the meetings, instead of all the speaking being done by the Chief Delegate on either side. It is also stated that he has proposed that the meetings shall be thrown open to the public.

A very significant telegram reached Peking yesterday in connection with internal peace. It is a joint message signed by Lu Yung-ting, Mo Yun-hsin, Tan Haimin and Chen Ping-kun, all of them leaders of the Kwangsi group. They informed the President that they had arrived at the decision not to interfere with the administration of the Central Government. The telegram further stated that the resumption of the Shanghai Conference was welcomed by the whole of the people in the South, and that they, as representatives of the Southwest militarists, desired to signify their loyalty and support to the President and the Government, and to make it plain that they did not intend to interfere with matters outside their duty as military men.

The above telegram is the first definite statement that has been made public indicating the true attitude of General Lu Yung-ting and his followers. The wording of the telegram gives the impression that other telegrams have been received, and that the present message was in answer to one from the Government making inquiries as to the policy of the party of which General Lu Yung-ting is the head.

PRO-JAPANESE OFFICIALS FILLING SHANTUNG POSTS

Changes Being Made Believed To Be Due To Activity Of The Anfu Club

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, August 19.—With a view to render what assistance it can to its Japanese friends the Anfu Club is trying to secure the control of all the offices in the province of Shantung. A message has been received in Peking that Chu Ying-kuang, Governor of Shantung, has agreed to replace the present magistrates by officials who have studied in Japan, with the object of facilitating diplomatic intercourse. It is stated that this was one of the conditions, or rather one of the many conditions, that the Anfu party made when the question of the appointment of the Shantung Governorship came up for decision. Another telegram from Tsinanfu states that Governor Chu has already completed his plans for the carrying out of a wholesale change of the district magistrates and that the list of names to be submitted contains only those who have studied in Japan. On account of this the people are greatly excited, and official circles outside the influence of the Anfu Party are showing strong resentment.

Nothing shows more clearly than the present movement how much the Anfu Club is under the domination of Japan. Thinking Chinese realize only too well that the Japanese are using every effort to consolidate their position in Shantung province. Your correspondent is told that on an average ten Japanese families are entering the province daily, and settling on the land. The Japanese have the influence to see to it that land is available for them. The great fear expressed here is that the pro-Japanese officials are intending to assist the Japanese to secure certain concessions, which they are now holding. If only Japanese trained magistrates are to hold office in Shantung, the local Chinese will receive but little justice or assistance from them. On account of the forced sale of land and other questionable deals entered into by the Japanese in Shantung many cases are sure to come before the courts for readjustment in the future, and it is when that happens that the Japanese will be able to take advantage of the fact that the courts are controlled by Japanese returned students.

TARDIEU IS OPTIMISTIC OVER FRANCE'S FUTURE

Outlook, He Says In Address, Is Reassuring And Signs Of Re-birth Are Visible

(Reuter's Service)
Paris, August 19.—M. Tardieu yesterday delivered a great speech stating that the outlook for the future of France is most reassuring. Already signs of a re-birth are visible. Alsace-Lorraine is bringing vast resources of mineral wealth; the fertile soil of the Camerouns and Togoland belongs to France and Morocco has been liberated from the political and diplomatic hindrances devised by Germany. French exports in the first six months of the present year show an increase of 114,604 million francs as compared with last year. In short, the situation warrants optimism.

Koreans Are Given Promise Of Equality

pointed respectively as Governor-General and Director-General of Administration.

Baron Sallo has long distinguished himself as a Minister of State and requires no introduction for his high personality and powers of statesmanship.

Nor is there any need to refer to the high esteem in which Mr. Mid-suno is held at home and abroad as a public servant who has not only filled with credit several important executive posts during a period of more than twenty years but also held a ministerial portfolio in the late Cabinet.

No Inequalities Permitted

I have no doubt that these two gentlemen will prove fully equal to the trust placed in them for carrying out the contemplated reforms in Korea in conformity with the expressed wishes of the Government. Korea is united geographically with the main islands of Japan and the two peoples are closely related to each other in race, in manners and customs and in sentiments. No distinction or inequality should be allowed to exist between them as loyal subjects of the same Sovereign, whether politically, socially or otherwise. These considerations are understood to have invariably been kept in view in the Imperial Rescript issued at the time of the annexation as well as in that which has just been issued.

It should be noted that the existing administrative system of Korea is not meant to be of a permanent and unalterable nature but that it embodies provisional arrangements calculated to meet the passing needs of the transitory period until the final goal is reached.

In pursuance of this policy the Government is now decided to carry out various reforms in Korea and it is its determination to forward the progress of the country in order that all differences between Korea and Japan proper in matters of the civil service may finally be altogether obliterated.

The Government is moreover confidently looking forward to the eventual adoption in Korea of a system of provincial and municipal administration similar to that in operation in Japan proper, so far as circumstances would permit. For the speedy attainment of these objects one naturally depends on the power of organization and machinery and a great deal must necessarily depend upon the efforts of the Koreans themselves toward their own upliftment.

To Remove Gendarmerie
I am well aware that the system of gendarmerie prevailing in Korea is being made a subject of criticism at home and abroad, but I would call attention to the fact that the institution originated in attempts to meet the exigencies of the situation under the regime of Residents-General and was never intended to be a permanent arrangement. It is now proposed to have the gendarmerie replaced by a force of police to be placed under the control of local Governors in a manner similar to that which obtains in Japan proper, except in districts where conditions make its immediate elimination inadvisable.

It is not possible at this moment to make any further announcement on the details of the contemplated reforms, which it remains for the newly appointed authorities to work out.

To sum up, however, it may be stated that Korea and Japan proper, forming integral parts of the same Empire, no distinction should in principle be made between them and that it is the ultimate purpose of the Japanese Government in due course to treat Korea as in all respects on the same footing with Japan proper. In this wise may be attained the only true object of the annexation and on these lines may be expected the permanent advance and enlightenment of the Koreans. I trust that the above brief observations may assist the public at home and abroad to arrive at a full comprehension of the true intentions and policy of the Japanese Government.

peace conference and accept the views of the retired statesmen.

The Peking police have ordered the temporary suspension of the Ching Pao, one of the most influential Chinese papers in Peking.

The Peking Government will give suitable work to the Chinese laborers who had served with foreign forces during the war. A Bureau will be established and each will be given a job in accordance with his abilities.

It is understood that President Hsu Shih-chang and General Tuan Chi-jui have agreed on certain plans with reference to the internal peace question. Should the Canton Government reject Mr. Wang Yi-tang as the Northern delegate or cling to the original eight peace terms, the Central Government will openly declare that it will not be responsible for the consequences of the action and will resort to some other means of unifying the country.

Since the provinces refuse to curtail the monthly military expenses of their administrations, the Central Government has decided to carry out the reduction of the troops in order to have money. Estimates will be at once made and an army reduction commission will be appointed to do the preparatory work.

In view of the reorganization of the navies of the Powers after the European War, the Ministry of the Navy is also planning the reorganization of the Chinese Navy. The views of the officers of the ministry are being canvassed and those which are acceptable will be adopted and carried out.

Gathering At Church House Recommends Going Ahead With Plans For Chapel

The report of the Cathedral War Memorial Committee regarding the dedication of the memorial chapel to the Shanghai men who fell in the war was accepted at a meeting held last evening at the Church House and suggestions regarding minor details of the scheme were made.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. H. A. J. Macray, senior trustee, supported by Dean Walker, and the acceptance of the report was moved by Mr. E. L. Allen and seconded by Mr. G. R. Wingrove. In accepting the report it was recommended that the architects be instructed to go ahead with the work.

The War Memorial scheme is for the dedication of the present south chapel of the church and the finished plans will call for alterations in the chapel, the roll of honor, containing in raised oak carving the names of all Shanghai British subjects who gave their lives in the war, to be the principal feature. A new altar of a design in keeping with the general scheme will be provided and the estimates of cost of the work, it is expected, will be between Tls. 3,500 and Tls. 4,000.

The following additional names have been included in the roll of honor since it was previously published: G. W. Bennett, J. B. Boyd, J. Bouch and F. Delfries.

It was said that only a few in the whole number were among the objectionable class who would be required to go to Germany.

CHINESE AT PARIS ASK TO BE CALLED HOME

Impending Meeting Of League Of Nations Engages Attention Of Both North And South

(From Our Own Correspondent)
Peking, August 19.—A telegram recently received in Peking from the Chinese delegates at Paris urges the government to turn its attention to the League of Nations, which, it is thought, may begin its sessions in September. The delegates state that they are unable to act further on diplomatic questions or on the Shantung settlement, and request that they be summoned home en bloc. The general impression of unanimity between the delegates, representing as they do opposing parts of China, has created a favorable opinion of China's diplomatic force which would be further emphasized by a dignified exit from the scene.
The news of the impending meeting of the League of Nations has apparently also reached the South where it has called forth a telegram from the chief director of the Canton government, Tsen Chun-Hsuan, to the Peking government. Mr. Tsen suggests that C. T. Wang, C. C. Wu, and Wellington Koo, who have all made good records at Paris and shown their ability to work together for China's interests, shall be appointed the three Chinese representatives on the League of Nations. Both North and South would thus be represented. The Peking government is said to consider these names favorably, but to prefer the appointment of five instead of three delegates, two to act as advisers and vice-representatives.

Oppose Wu's Appointment
(Reuters Pacific Service)
Peking, August 19.—It appears that there is militant opposition to the appointment of Mr. C. C. Wu as one of China's representatives in the League of Nations, and the Government insists that Mr. Lu Cheng-hsiang shall be Chief Representative. Messrs. C. T. Wang and Wellington Koo will be appointed.

Messrs. CROSSE & BLACKWELL much regret that for the first time for a hundred years war conditions prevent many of their products being shipped to China. Messrs. CROSSE & BLACKWELL will take care that not a day shall be lost in forwarding supplies when a return to more normal conditions permits. In the meantime they trust that those who have been accustomed to rely on their products will be good enough to accept this explanation.

7. For the benefit of public health, additional spittoons treated ready with lime and disinfection fluid are to be provided at all stations, waiting rooms and in trains.

Latin Quarter Unchanged By Peace Or War

Paris.—The other day I met in the Quartier Latin two distinguished and dignified members of the late Peace Conference, drinking their backs and looking with amusement upon a band of young students with enormous green bows who were circling hand-in-hand round a statue and singing to their hearts' content an improvised diatribe against their master. They did not really mean it, of course; it was merely a revival of the jolly "monome" which had disappeared for five years.

"The Quartier Latin," said one of the delegates, "has not really changed since I lived in it 25 years ago." And in essence he is right. Paris as a whole has changed enormously, but the Quartier Latin, with its irresponsible students, its Mimi-Pinsons, its eccentric characters, and its literary flavor, remains very much the same.

At the present moment I am acquainted in the Quartier Latin with the King of Bohemia—an elderly man with an imposing air who lives from hour to hour at the expense of the world in general, and who seems to thoroughly enjoy his precarious existence; the Prince of Poets—a man of some literary reputation dressed from head to foot in black, whom one may encounter in the cafe surrounded by a group of respectful disciples; and even the self-styled Dictator of the People—a youth who proclaims himself openly to be the revolutionary chief, but of whom the police take not the smallest notice because he is in the traditions of the Quartier Latin, where life seems to be an endless masquerade.

I also know a candidate to the Academie Francaise, a simple polli who is entirely unknown, but who seriously puts forward his claim to a fauteuil as the representative of the ordinary soldier. Nowhere else in the world would you encounter so many curious figures, so many strange aspirations, so much that is play-acting for the rest of the world, but which is at least half serious for the actors themselves.

It is a carnival where everybody "dresses up" in some way or other. This boy imagines himself to be the founder of a new school of poetry; this other boy has a new theory of art. There is much that is earnest in intention; but, alas! most of these regenerators of the world pass away their lives without ever coming into contact with reality, dreaming away their days on the shady terrace of the Luxembourg Gardens, with their backs against the pedestals of the white statues of the old-time Queens of France.

Many of the innumerable bookshops in the Quartier are not merely bookshops—they are literally salons where the young literateurs gather in an atmosphere of art and discuss the hundred "tendencies" which have sprung up since the armistice. It would be wrong to say that they are not serious. They are indeed fervent; but for the most part you are impressed with the emptiness of these youthful hopes, and with the impracticability of these youthful imaginings. And yet out of this masked ball, out of this comedy of "dominances" there often emerges a vigorous movement which keeps French literature alive.

Most of the students are poor, and before the war they were able to dine for a franc or so in the quaint little restaurants of the Quartier. Now, alas! it is indeed difficult to get a meal for three francs and their purses feel the strain. But they manage somehow, and are even able to pay for the dinners of the strange little creatures who lead their butterfly lives in the company of the students, just as in the days of Murger or Musset; and they keep a good heart, full of pranks, full of gaiety. Living under the roof, they divide their time between grave studies, deep discussions, and innocent frivolities.

No part of Paris has resumed its ancient life, its ancient appearance, so quickly and so thoroughly as the eternally young Quartier Latin.—London Chronicle.

AN EARTHLY PARADISE

Nantucket Innocent Of Crime For Eight Long Months

Not motion pictures nor yet even automobiles have sufficed to make Nantucket wicked. Once again the Superior Court has opened its session for the island county, supervised the impaneling both of grand and petit juries, and then discharged them both almost instantaneously, on account of a dearth not of true bills alone but of any criminal complaints whatsoever. And in recognition of the pleasant phenomenon that 3,000 people should thus have lived together during another eight months in peace and in perfect observance of law, the district attorney has presented to the court's chief justice a pair of pure white gloves, so symbolizing the cleanness of Nantucketers and renewing once more what had been an ancient custom on the island whenever the sitting of the court revealed no crime to fit any punishment.

There should be pride and there maybe will be envy over Nantucket's fine record. In these days of turmoil one had almost forgotten that there were places where no bombs ever broke the silence of the night and where thieves went not about to steal. And what becomes, in view of Nantucket's cleanness, of the stories so often related by the lesser novelists of New England in which, against the background of hillsides invariably "bleak, bare, and forbidding," there is always told the tale of some hidden crime, the product of some repressed nature's plotting? New Englanders, real New Englanders, appear quite able to take care of their "repressions" and other persistent psychoses on the good old island of the Macys, the Husseys, the Coffins, the Starbucks and Folgers. Their quiet life they seem to be living very much to the glory of Christian fellowship among men.

Yet will there be none still to proclaim the rollicking past of Nantucket, before and during the days of its greatest seafaring prosperity, when there was many a mystery left only half explained about salvage from wrecks which men said need not have been wrecked had that fate not been deliberately planned for them?

Electric Irons

An extract from Aesop's Fables:—

"Many years ago, the Sad Iron was a very powerful and wicked tyrant, and was feared by all who came in contact with him. Everybody had to obey his wishes and do his will. The fire had to keep him warm, the hearth-rug had to clean his face, and, if he was too warm, he gave full vent to his wrath on the clothes that he smoothed. One day a new arrival came into the world, called the ELECTRIC IRON. This iron was very clever, it could make its own heat, its face never needed cleaning, and it never burnt the clothes, so the people, seeing how good and clever it was, killed the Sad Iron and put the Electric Iron in its place."

PEKING ORGANISATIONS HAVE EDUCATIONAL AIM

Students Are Behind Movement
To Spread Knowledge Of Affairs In China

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Peking, August 19.—The first committee meeting of the Association of Various Classes of People of Peking was held yesterday at its office in the Hukwang guild building at Hu Fang Chiao, West City. The Association is formed on the same lines as similar societies in Shanghai and Tientsin. For some time delegates have been interviewing representatives of the commercial guilds, schools, newspaper offices, as well as prominent individuals of all professions and callings in the city with a view to including them in the membership. Although formed of delegates from all these classes, the association is particularly supported by prominent merchants and commercial guild members. The students of Peking are united into another society, called the People's Union, which also welcomes members of other occupational classes.

The aims of both these associations are similar. In the main they may be said to be engaged in the education of the people in the conduct of diplomatic and foreign affairs of China and spreading knowledge of current political events and their significance. Through co-operative efforts they will aim to encourage the boycott against Japanese products and the growth of native industry. In their campaign of publicity the association has sent out already many circulars, as well as conducting a sort of news exchange informative of popular movements in other localities. Their leaders complain of being seriously hampered by the government in their campaign: letters and telegrams to associations in other cities are censored and their news held up in various ways. They are under close surveillance by government agents, although no particular attempt at secrecy has been made.

It was decided at yesterday's meeting that delegates should be sent to Shanghai, Hupeh and other provinces to organise branch offices. When similar associations have started in all principal cities of North China it is planned to unite into a national association, similar to the recent Students' Council, with a central office. The association will then probably join with the People's Union to form one large democratic society.

It is impossible to say how much these movements represent simple patriotic and democratic enthusiasm on the part of their leaders and how much they are involved in political aspirations. Certainly all unite in opposition to the Anfu Club. Certainly also certain progressive party members are active in the association. A significant feature of the movement is that the majority of influential commercial interests in Peking is still supporting and enforcing the boycott against Japanese products and taking measures to extend the influence of the movement far into the future.
